Title: Ann and the treasure box

One day, Ann and her friends were on the beach. They were building a sandcastle. They were happy.

'What is that?' Ann said. One of her friends said, 'Is that a treasure box?'

The children saw the mysterious box coming closer. When the mysterious box sailed to shore, the children carried the mysterious box. 'It is heavy!' The children said. It was so heavy that they were sweating.

'It is locked,' Ann said. 'We have to find a key.' One of her friends said. They kept thinking about where the key was at. At last, they had an idea! 'It might be under the sea.' Ann said. 'I can't swim!' her friends said. 'Luckily I can!' said Ann. 'Stand here and I'll find it.' 'Actually, I got this water proof electronic device! It will find the key.' said Ann's friend. It took them a long time to find the key. After a while, they found it. 'I can't wait to open the treasure box!' said Ann. After they opened it, they were shocked! 'There's nothing inside!' Ann said.

At last, they went back home to eat dinner.
